REFUSE TO RECOGNIZE OFFICIALS

Of New Administration of Mexico and Another Rebellion is Threatened

BROTHERS OF MADERO

Will Assist in Organizing a New Army to Harass Huerta, Who Will Rule With Iron Hand.

Mexico City, Feb. 22.—Acceptance of the new administration in Mexico is not so general as was at first thought. To the states of Coahulia, Sonora and Yucatan, which from the moment of the overthrow of Francisco Madero declared they were not in accord with the new conditions must now be added a part of the state of Oaxaca, where the Ferrano Indians have refused to recognize the government of Provisional President Huerta.

The governor of Oaxaca is so alarmed by the disturbed condition of the state capital that he has asked for reinforcements from Mexico City. Between the federal capital and the port of Vera Cruz conditions are very uncertain.

Laredo, Texas, Feb. 22.—Mexico's new provisional government scarcely will be in the saddle before it will face a life and death struggle for existence with a strong force, backed by the ample fortune of the Madero brothers, around whose banner all the disaffected bands of rebels in Northern Mexico are gravitating.

An incidental feature of the program is the secession of eight states from the Mexican government and the formation of a brand new republic composed of the northern portion of the faction-riven nation.

These eight Mexican states have expressed dissatisfaction with the new regime at Mexico City: Zacatecas, Coahulia, Nuevo Leon, Chihuahua, San Luis Potosi, Vera Cruz Sinsloa and Puebla.

Their leaders definitely have declared they will not support the government set up by General Huerta.

Governor Carranzas of the state of Coahulia, is at the head of the movement to start the new republic and efforts assiduously are being made to bring about the secession of several other states besides those named.

On the night Madero was overthrown, it was reported that Governor Carranzas had ordered mobilization of troops at Pedras Negras across the border from Eagle Pass Texas, but the purpose of the troop movement was not stated.

Governor Carranzas, with 1200 men, is working with Emilio and Raoul Madero, brothers of the deposed president, who are at San Pedro. Madero's old home, near Saltill, which is Carranza's base

Jose Gayou, former governor of Sonora, has telegraphed from Mexicali to Governor Maytorena of Sonora, offering his 3000 men and 2,000,000 pesos to restore Madero to office.

Governor Maytorena has telegraphed the senate and provisional President Huerta, repudiating the new administration.

The governor of Yucatan, ignorant of the death of Gustavo Madero has wired him, offering the services of 1200 men and money to assist in a new revolution

The report that General Pascual Orozco Jr. was drowned last September in the Rio Grande River was denied today by General Orozco's father, Colonel Pascual Orozco Sr in a statement to the Associated Press.

"My son is in a remote part of the state of Coahulia, recuperating from a severe attack of rheumatism. I have received a letter from him during the past two weeks,' declared Colonel Orozco.

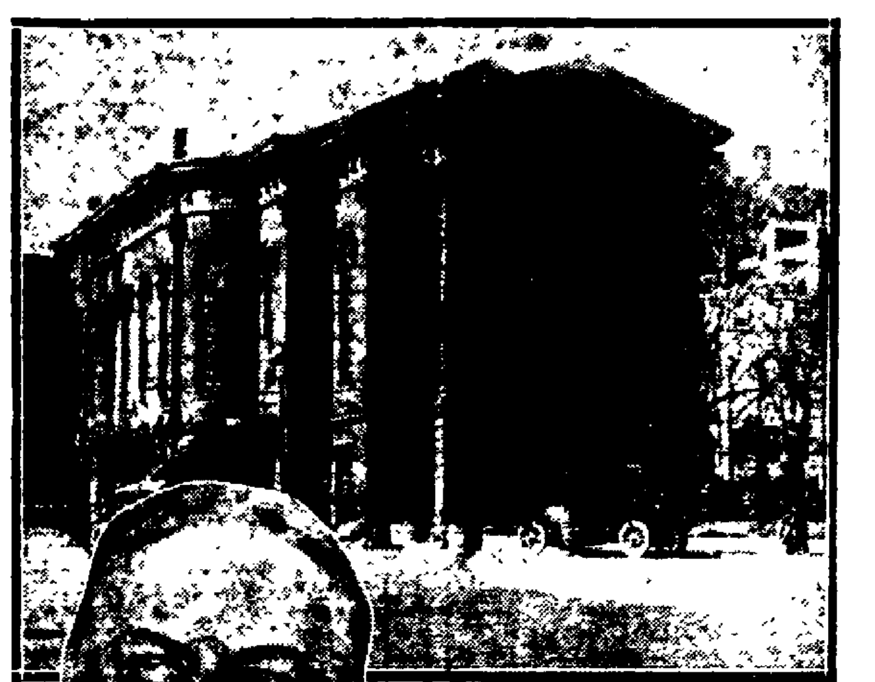

The National Railway of Mexico sent out its first passenger train for a week for Monterey yesterday. The telegraph line south of Laredo is practically out of commission, and no international business is accepted here. Eagle Pass has no telegraph service south of Saitillo.

General Ambrosio Figuerra, with between 5000 and 10,000 men, has revolted against the new government headed by Huerta and Diaz. His forces, well armed and with an abundance of ammunition, are in the state of Guerrero

General Figueria is one of the big men of Mexico who has remained quiet during the recent troubles. He supported Porfirio Diaz and later joined Madero in the revolution which ended with the latter's assumption of the presidency. It is supposed that he was persuaded to revolt as a result of the treachery through which Madero was deposed.

Figueria is of Spanish descent, but he was born in Mexico and educated at Cornell University. He speaks English fluently and is well known and liked in several states.

Wilsons Will Worship in Noted Church

DR. WALLACE RADCLIFFE.

President-elect Woodrow Wilson and his family will worship at the New York Avenue Presbyterian church when in Washington. [illegible] former presidents, including Abraham Lincoln, have attended [illegible] church. Dr Wallace Radcliffe is [illegible].

HONOR IS PAID TO THE BIRTHDAY OF WASHINGTON

While there was no general celebration of Washington's birthday in Newark Saturday, the places that [illegible] it were those whose functions are more or less public and there was general holiday air apparent about the city.

There was no court held of any kind except police court where Mayor [illegible] disposed of several cases.

At 1 o'clock the postoffice in all departments was closed and only one [illegible] of mail was made.

In the court house and city hall the offices were all closed and the clerks [illegible] enjoyed a holiday.

Flags were raised on all of the [illegible] buildings while bunting and flags were in evidence in front of a number of business establishments and private residences.

POKER SHARPS BADLY BEATEN BY ANGRY MINERS

Martins Ferry, O., Feb. 22.—Three foreigners were arrested today and other arrests will follow as a result of a riot last night near the [illegible] mine in which thirty coal miners participated when two strangers were badly beaten. The two men were alleged poker sharps whom miners charged with crooked work in securing their money.

FIRE RAGING AT SUMMER RESORT

Wilmington, Del., Feb. 22.—Fire is raging at Rehoboth, Del., a summer resort on the Atlantic coast about 100 miles below this city. It started in a garage and as the town is without a water system or fire apparatus its progress was unchecked by 11 o'clock. A hotel and twelve cottages had been destroyed.

RESIGNATION RECOMMENDED BY SECRETARY

Washington, Feb. 22.—Secretary Nagle has made a report to President Taft on the official conduct of Daniel A Keefe, of Detroit, Commissioner General of Immigration and has recommended that Keefe's resignation be demanded.

The report alleges that Keefe has accepted free transportation for himself and family from railroads and steamships. These alleged acts were considered by Secretary Nagle as sufficiently serious to be called to the president's attention because the Commissioner General of Immigration deals officially with railroads and steamships in immigration cases.

President Taft may leave the case for consideration of President Wilson. Mr. Nagle will not discuss the situation. After an investigation he submitted his report to the president some time ago.

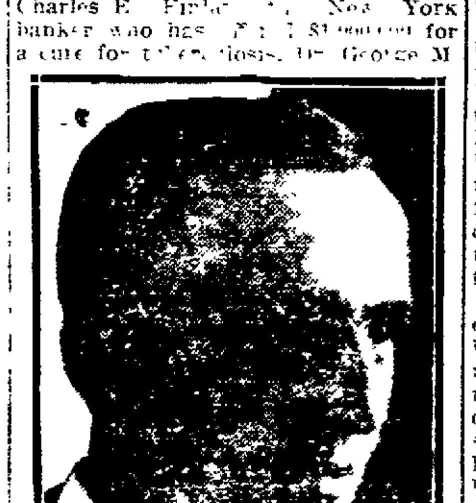

Keefe was appointed Commissioner General in November, 1908, for an indeterminate term. He was formerly president of the International Longshoremen Union and sixth vice president of the American Federation of Labor.

SUITS AGAINST THE TITANIC

New York, Feb 22.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals today handed down a decision which permits relatives of Titantic victims to commence suits immediately against the steamship company for full damages. The aggregate of these damage suits will reach $10,000,000. All suits must be commenced before April 15, a year after the date of the disaster.

St. Louis Physician Will Make Secret Serum Tests

After a recent conference with Charles E. Finlay [illegible], New York banker who has [illegible] $1,000,000 for a cure for tuberculosis, Dr. George M

Heath, the St. Louis physician who has a serum that he believes will effect the cure in the majority of cases announced that he had made out a list of fifteen persons who are to be treated in secret. Dr Heath declared his interest in the cure to be due to scientific and humanitarian reasons and has told Mr. Finlay that if he could convince him that he has found the cure that that is all he wanted. Dr. Heath has the records of a cure he effected on a woman who was treated with the serum.

UNCLE SAM INSISTS ON FAIR PLAY

And Will See that Huerta Gives Madero a Square Deal

SUMINARY EXECUTION

Of Deposed Ruler Would Be Seriously Objected to by the Government at Washington.

Washington, Feb 22.—There is no present purpose, officials say, of dispitching the troops from Galveston to Mexico. Today's order is simply one of the steps taken to have the troops ready for any emergency. In fact, it is intimated that one of the purposes is to provide President Wilson with proper facilities to carry out any plan he may have in contemplation regarding the Mexican situation, but of course the movement does not commit him in any way to a policy of forcible intervention.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 22.—Gov. Abraham Gonzales virtually is held a prisoner in Chihuahua City. It is reported that Gonzales was prevented by regular troops from leaving the state capital and combining the various Madero factions of Chihuahua. He was a strong supporter of Madero's revolution.

Leavenworth, Kan., Feb. 22.—Fifteen hundred men and 120 officers, comprising the Seventh U. S. Infantry, First Battalion Ninth Infantry; Company D, Signals Corps; Company E, Engineer Corps, and the field hospital corps, made preparations for entrainment, following receipt today of a dispatch from the war department, ordering the Fifth Brigade, Second division, to Galveston. Entrainment probably will be completed by 7 o'clock today.

Marlin, Tex., Feb. 22.—"I think the president is all right, but he does not seem to understand that if the federal government does not protect the border with troops by Monday, the state of Texas will." This was the declaration today of Governor Colquitt, concerning the situation along the Rio Grande.

Washington, Feb. 22.—Uncle Sam is to insist on the "square deal" in Mexico.

Intervention of the United States government to secure justice, or at least a fair trial for fallen President Madero, of Mexico, as announced by Secretary Knox at the cabinet meeting last evening, was an unexpected development of the State Department's policy in regard to that republic.

As recently as Thursday afternoon it was announced that there was no intention to depart from the policy of nonintervention in the Mexican troubles.

It appears, however, that this statement was based upon the natural assumption that the newly established Mexican government would observe the amenities of civilized warfare in its treatment of prisoners of either high or low degree, and when the killing of Gustavo Madero gave ground for genuine apprehension for the fate of the former president it was felt that the time had come to stretch forth a restraining hand.

Secretary Knox with the approval of President Taft, has instructed Ambassador Wilson to convey to Huerta in diplomatic terms the intimation that the United States would seriously object to a summary execution or sentence of Madero It is not felt here that the former President should be slaughtered or put out of the way for crimes which seemed purely political without fair trial This view was made plain to Huerta, and the fact was not concealed that the United States looked with disfavor upon the shooting of Gustavo Madero, the President's brother.

The administration's attitude toward the provisional government in Mexico was discussed at the cabinet meeting President Taft and Mr Knox have never believed, it is said, that Madero was a strong president for a republic sown with revolution They have believed, however, that he has displayed many humane traits and that he is entitled to a hearing They have no particular interest other than that of humanity in what is done with him if it done in legal fashion

The administration feels that it has not in any manner departed from its policy of strict neutrality Its action was purely impersonal, and probably would have followed as surely had General Diaz been captured by Madero and threatened with death without the process of law

The fact is though not officially admitted, that in an unofficial manner the state department did bring to bear influences which saved Diaz from death when he was captured by General Beltran at Vera Cruz last fall.

It is believed that the Mexican people themselves, after the heat of combat is over, will be the first to express gratitude to the United States government for preventing the placing of such a blot upon the reputation of their country as would folliw what practically would amount to the assassination of a deposed president.

It is recalled in some quarters that the action of the administration in the case of Madero is precisely the reverse of that taken 464 years ago, when President Andrew Johnson refused to intervene to prevent the shooting of the unfortunate Emperor Maximillian, who was by a singular coincidence betrayed by the military leader. General Lopez, who was his main reliance.

In that case it is pointed out that Maximilian was in Mexico greatly against the will of the United States, and also that he was tried by a legal tribunal in the form of a courtmartial.

While it is hoped that the Huerta government will be able to draw to its support all of the revolutionary leaders of the north and south, the administration continues under the belief that prudence dictates the continuance of the military and naval policy of preparedness Pursuant to this the First and Fifth Brigades of the army remain under preparatory orders for foreign service, and the three army transports, which are due to arrive at Galveston early next week, will be retained there, ready to embark troops at a moment's notice.

The Fifth brigade, Second division, of the reorganized army, consisting of four infantry regiments, commanded by Brigadier General F. A. Smith, has been ordered to Galveston, Texas, to be in readiness to embark for foreign service.

INDIAN CHIEFS PRESENT WITH WHITE FATHER

At Breaking of Ground for Indian Memorial on Staten Island—Tribute to Vanishing Race.

New York, Feb. 22.—Twenty-nine full blooded Indian chiefs from western reservations bedecked in the regalia which is the mark of their rank, marched stolidly up the hill at Fort Wadsworth, Staten Island, today with "Their Great White Father," President Taft.

At the crest of the hill, the highest point on the Atlantic coast between New York and Florida, they formed a silent group as the president upturned a spade full of earth, breaking ground for the National American Indian Memorial, a 60-foot bronze statue of an Indian warrior which will tower 165 feet above the highest elevation around New York harbor, a tribute to a vanishing race.

The gathering of the Indians marked the last time perhaps that many native chiefs will assemble in the east. Most of them are between 75 and 80 years old, some of them fought against Custer among them being Chief Hollow Horn Bear who stands six feet 4 inches tall, and Chief White Man Runs Him, more than 70 years, tall straight as a pine tree and one of the finest specimens of the Indian alive today.

The monument is being erected under authority from Congress by a committee of which Rodman Wanamaker is the head.

STORM COST $1,000,000.

Chicago, Feb 22.—More than a million dollars was the price paid by Chicago for one sleet, rain and snow storm. Aurora, Elgin, Joliet and other nearby towns paid a similar tribute to the elements.

Telegraph, telephone and transportation companies were the greatest losers Many persons received injuries due to falls on icy pavements.

TURKISH SHELL BROUGHT DOWN AN AEROPLANE

Constantinople, Feb. 22.—A Bulgarian military areoplane while reconnoitering over the fortress of Adrianople tolay was hit by a Turkish shell and fell inside the lines. It was piloted by a Russian officer, Lieut. Nikolas, who was made a prisoner by the Turks. The wireless report from the Turkish commander does not state whether Nickolas was injured.

DIED TOGETHER AFTER 56 YEARS OF HAPPINESS

Danbury, Conn., Feb. 22.—Quite as they had predicted and sincerely believed, death came today to John Smith, a well-known landscape artist, and his wife, within a few hours of each other.

He was 73 years old and died at 3 o'clock, less than two hours after his wife, Julia, 75 years old, had died.

They had been married fifty-six years and were noted as an especially devoted couple.

POLICE CHIEF HAS STREET DUEL WITH 2 BROTHERS

Harrison, O, Feb. 22.—In a street duel at Burgin, Ky., last night between Chief of Police Burdette of Burgih, and John and Hugley Elkin, brothers, John Elkins was shot through the stomach, and will die.

A bullet struck Chief Burdette on the head, but the wound was not serious.

Chief Burdette was attempting to arrest Taylor Elkins, father of the brothers, on a charge of disorderly conduct. It is alleged that the boys endeavored to prevent their father's arrest. Guns were drawn, and the battle was on.

Other officers arrested the elder Elkin and his son Hugley.

PROBERS OF STATE HAVE MANY LEADS

Columbus, O., Feb 22.—Chairman W. D Fulton of the Fulton committee which will begin next week a probe of state offices and institutions has [illegible] that the members had been furnished with many promising leads.

Fulton declared that the committee has surprising information regarding inefficiency of employes and waste in various branches of the state government.

"We are going to go to the bottom of everything," said Fulton "We won't allow any question of party or persons to blunt or divert the probe. We hope to put the state's business on a [illegible] basis of economy and efficiency."

The [illegible] committee, now engaged in making up the big appropriation bill, will wait for the Fulton committee's report before submitting the measure. The finance committee finds the budget laid before it for 1913, totaling $1[illegible], is more than twice the appropriation granted for 1903.

"We are making our own investigation of each item as we proceed," said Chairman John Cowen Thursday, "but any item will be subject to change on the findings of the Fulton committee."

WHY TOWNS ARE "DEAD."

By Chalmers L. Pancoast.

Join hands with the hundreds of people who are pledging themselves to boost their city by spending their money with their home merchants.

The Mail Order habit never built a great city. To make this city the place it should be you must give it the benefit of money that has been going to the Mail Order houses

The Mail Order habit is the cause of more towns being known as "slow" and "dead" towns than anything else. You know that if people make the remark, "This town is a dead place," you are not going to be very proud to call it home.

WAGE SCALE BIG ISSUE IN STRIKE

Rubber Workers Present Demands But are Ignored by Manufacturers

ALL STRIKING EMPLOYES

Of Goodrich Company at Akron are Notified That Their Relations With Plant Have Ceased.

Akron, Feb. 22.—The manufacturers have made no reply to the wage schedule that was presented by the striking rubber workers yesterday, and it is thought they will not answer it. They may, however, present a schedule which may make something of an advance over the old scale.

Judging from an advertisement published by the Goodrich Company, that concern considers its relations ended with the employes who struck. The advertisement says that employes who left the plant and have not returned to work will receive the wages due them next week. Payments will be made at a store on North Main street, rented for that purpose.

The American Federation of Labor officials say that about 500 strikers have signified their intention of joining that organization, and they will be taken in at a meeting Monday afternoon.

The assertion made in Columbus by Rev. Theodore Irving Reese, member of the arbitration board, that troops would be needed is ridiculed by many conservative business men here. They say that for a strike of such magnitude, affairs have been remarkably quiet.

Will the rubber companies arbitrate?

This is the question which covers the crisis of the rubber strike, which comes today when the wage scale and demands will be sent by the strikers unanimously to the state board of arbitration and the companies' officials.

Heads of all of the companies have declared while the strike has been in progress that they had nothing to arbitrate.

On the other hand, D. S. Sullivan, board member, who has been in Akron constantly since the strike assumed large proportions, and who has talked with most of the officials, believes they will at least respect the request of the board for a conference.

"Of course, I am unable to say what they may or may not do as to the demands, but I do believe they will meet our board."

E. C. Shaw, vice president of the Goodrich Rubber Company, the backbone of the industry, said last night: "I have nothing to discuss with the strikers. They are no longer employees at our plant. I am willing to meet any reasonable proposition for a conference. The men may come back and get work, but they will be regarded as new employes."

Columbus, Feb. 22.—Members of the state board of arbitration who investigated conditions in connection with the rubber workers' strike at Akron, today held a conference with Governor Cox behind closed doors, and made a report of conditions as they found them. At the conclusion of the conference it was said that no official statement would be given out at this time

No immediate plans for the sending of troops to Akron are being made. "We did not discuss the sending of troops,' said Governor Cox following the conference. The net result of the conference was a decision to continue negotiations for peace, and meantime to allow local authorities to preserve order. D. H. Sullivan, Secretary of the Board of Arbitration is still in Akron conferring with the warring interests.

MARKED BILLS WERE FOUND ON POSTAL CLERK

Cincinnati, Feb. 22.—Four marked one dollar bills said to have been placed in the mails by postoffice inspectors and said to have been found in possession of William N. Hinkle, aged 45, a railway mail clerk of Chattanooga, Tenn., led to his arrest today in Cincinnati on the charge of rifling the mail. Hinkle has been in the government mail service for twenty-two years.

The Passing of the farmer's Church.

are not Growing.

19 Counties — Ohio Rural Life Survey

THE most rapid changes and the most marked decline are to be observed in those churches upon which the farming population is dependent. Like the country educational system, the methods of church work which usually prevail in country churches have been in large part borrowed from the towns and are wholly inadequate to the needs of the rural field. As a result of the attempt to solve rural problems with town methods the country churches are now facing their greatest problem.

NEWARK PEOPLE TAKE PART.

At the Coshocton Christian Union church Sunday night, the young people's society will have charge of the service and will render a program. Ralph Cass, George Devereaux and Emma Davis of Newark will take part in the program.

Surprise Your Friends.

For four weeks regular use Dr. King's New Life Pills. They stimulate the liver, improve digestion, remove blood impurities, pimples and eruptions disappear from your face and body and you feel better. Begin at once. Buy at Hall's Drug Store.

Don't give yourself away. The world takes a man at his own valuation.

Misery loves company, and the worst of it is that love always finds a way.

The fellow who cuts off his nose to spite his face can't very well blow about it.

Must You Be Bald?

What have you done to stop your hair from falling? Have you tried Rexall "93" Hair Tonic? If not, we want you to try it at our risk.

If you have dandruff; if your hair is falling out and your scalp is not glazed and shiny, if you use Rexall "93" Hair Tonic according to directions for thirty days, and at the end of that time you are not thoroughly satisfied with the results and will tell us so, we will immediately hand back your money. We won't ask you to promise anything. We won't even question you. We will take your mere word and return your money.

Doesn't it stand to reason that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic must be a mighty good remedy and have given great satisfaction to our customers if we endorse it like this? We know of no other remedy that is as good. It is because of what Rexall "93" Hair Tonic has done for others that we back it with our own money.

Why suffer scalp and hair trouble or be bald, when Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will remove dandruff, make your scalp comfortable and healthy, promote hair growth and tend to prevent baldness—when we will pay for the treatment should it fail to please you?

We don't obligate you to anything. You simply buy the treatment; use it, and if not pleased, come back to us empty-handed—and we will hand back what you paid us. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00 a bottle.

You can buy Rexall "93" Hair Tonic in this community only at our store:

Newark Lodge, No. 623, met in regular session Monday evening, Feb. 17, with a good attendance. There was more than the usual interest shown in all questions under discussion. The initiatory degree was practiced in part, and the evening was spent in an enjoyable and proftiabe manner. Question of great importance to each member were discussed.

No member should be absent during the next few meetings. On Monday evening, Feb. 24, we will confer the initiatory and first degrees. It is earnestly hoped that all will attend. Members having part in either the initiatory or the first degree should not fail to be present.

Visiting brothers always welcome.

Olive Branch Lodge No. 34 met in regular session Tuesday evening, Feb 18th. The first degree will be conferred in Newark Lodge Monday evening February 24, on an Olive Branch member, and the second degree will be conferred in Olive Branch Lodge, Tuesday evening, February 25. All members are urged to be present and assist in these degrees. On our last meeting night there was a good attendance and considerable business was transacted. Visiting members always welcome.

Newark Lodge, No. 13, K. of P.

Newark Lodge, No. 13, met in regular session Thursday night.

The Esquire rank was conferred upon a large class and a large number of the members were out to see the work.

Five new applications were read and a number balloted upon. The booster committee is still working and promises to have a larger class for initiation next month than ever before.

Next Thursday night the Page rank will be conferred upon a large class. The Pages who went through the Esquire rank last Thursday night are invited to attend.

All K.'s of P. are requested to meet at the hall next Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock to attend the funeral of Brother Henry Baker.

Pythian Sisters.

The Pythian Sisters will hold a special meeting Wednesday evening, Feb. 26, on account of Roland Lodge, K. of P., giving an entertainment last Wednesday, the regular meeting night. The meeting will begin at 7 o'clock, sharp.

After a short business session the degree staff will hold a progressive pedro party, which will be an evening's enjoyment for all who attend. All Knights and friends are cordially invited.

The Boy With the Hatchet

By JAMES ARTHUR.

HEARD a dandy story t'other day about a guy
That my teacher telled us couldn't never tell a lie.
W'en it comes to fairy tales, that's cert'nly a peach.
Didn't say what ailed him—maybe stoppage in his speech.
Name was Washington, who licked the British king, says she.
He was our first president an' set the country free.
Wisht that I'd been him, I do, an' if I had, you bet,
I'd 've chased the redcoats an' 've licked em harder yet.

Once, my teacher says, when George was 'bout as big as me
He got a new hatchet an' cut down a cherry tree.
W'en his pop got home that night, my, he was awful mad,
For he said that cherry tree was 'ist the best they had.
An' "Who chopped it down?" he roared, 'ist that way, an,' oh, my,
George was awful skeered, you bet, but couldn't tell a lie,
So he says, "I did it wiv my hatchet," an', by jing,
That was why, my teacher says, he licked the British king.

W'en his pop heard that he grabbed an' hugged that boy o' his,
An' he says, "That's better'n all the cherry trees they is."
An' my teacher says if we 'ud never tell a lie
Maybe we 'ud all of us be presidents by an' by.
So I have a hatchet an' am lookin' for a tree.
I'll chop all the cherry trees we have, an' you'll 'ist see
That I'll march wight in an' tell my pop, an' nen some day
Maybe I'll be president, 'ist like my teacher say.

FACE A SIGHT WITH TETTER

Began With Pimple. Spread All Over Face. In Agony All the Time. Itched and Smarted. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Was Cured.

Moberly, Mo.—"My trouble began with a small pimple on the left side of my face and it spread all over my face and to my neck. It would be scarlet red when I got warm. My face was a sight. It looked very unpleasant, and it felt uncomfortable. My face was something awful; it just kept me in agony all the time. Some said it was tetter, and some said it was that awful eczema, but I rather think it was tetter. I had been troubled with it for about two years and tried many remedies but got no relief until I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment.

"When I would wash my face with the Cuticura Soap and apply the Cuticura Ointment it would cool my skin and draw great big drops of matter out of the skin. You would think I was sweating, it would run down my face just as though I had washed it. It itched and smarted and I suffered in the day time most from the heat from the stove. I used the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment for a month and I was cured of it. I will tell everyone I know who has any trouble of the skin." (Signed) Mrs. J. Brookshire, Apr. 15, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold throughout the world. A single set is often sufficient. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

DOCTORS TURN AWAY PATIENTS

United Doctors Turn Away Many Who Are Incurable—Their Invariable Rule.

WAITING ROOMS CROWDED.

People Come Long Distances To Be Treated by These Expert Specialists.

Yesterday was another busy day for the United Doctors, the expert medical specialists who have their Newark institute on the second floor of the Arcade building. In fact ever since the opening of the new institute last Thursday the waiting rooms have been crowded with patients awaiting their turn for a consultation with these great specialists

Many cases have been accepted for treatment but a large number were turned away, kindly but firmly told that their cases could not be accepted for treatment, as it is the invariable rule of the United Doctors to accept no cases for treatment unless they feel sure they can greatly benefit them or cure them These specialists want the reputation of curing every case they treat so they are very careful in selecting their patients

The following case of a Columbus, Ohio, lady who failed to obtain a cure for Goitre by an operation tells an interesting story of her experience with the United Doctors treatment for Goitre after an operation had entirely failed:

"Columbus, O., Dec 6th, 1912.

"I have had Goitre ever since childhood, which caused me to have terrible shortness of breath. I had continual palpitation of the heart and all other symptoms of Goitre. I was operated on for Goitre on the right side of my neck, which helped me for a short time but immediately began to grow again worse than ever.

"I went to the United Doctors just one week ago and started treatment with their non-surgical methods. Though I have been treated but one week my Goitre has already reduced as much as it had with the operation and is steadily reducing even more. The skin around my neck is loose and soft, showing decidedly that the Goitre is going down. My voice is now much improved as I can talk aloud whereas formerly I could scarcely whisper. My headaches are about gone and, in fact, I am perfectly satisfied with the results.

(Signed) JENNIE WINSTON.
676 Neil Avenue.

All who call on the United Doctors before March 10th are cured free except for the bare cost and distribution of the medicines, be they rich or poor This free offer is made to quickly secure a large number of patients to show the public what this wonderful new treatment will do for the sick, even after all others have failed to help them.

The diseases treated by the United Doctors are chronic diseases of the nerves, blood, heart, liver, kidneys, bladder, spine, brain, including rheumatism, paralysis, epilepsy, goitre, gall-stones, rupture, constipation, dropsy, asthma, catarrh, deafness, dyspepsia, eczema, scrofula, rectal troubles, weak lungs, neuralgia, chronic appendicitis, and diseases of women and diseases of men.

THE SPELL OF MOUNT VERNON

By JAMES A. EDGERTON.
[Copyright, 1912, by American Press Association.]

It has been nearly seventeen years since I first saw Mount Vernon, but the impression is yet fresh and vivid. There were really two views, one when I passed the place on a Potomac boat and the other when I visited the home and tomb. I cannot quite put into words the spell the spot cast upon me, and perhaps to do so would dispel some of the charm. I have visited Mount Vernon since, but never with the same feeling of exaltation or the same revealing sense of the greatness of him who dwelt there.

Probably I should explain at this point that up to that time I had never had the highest appreciation of the immortal George. While little more than a boy I had read history somewhat and formed a boy's conclusions. Washington's attitude toward France in his last days had impressed me as smacking of ingratitude, his state coach and court trimmings as having a touch of aristocracy and even his generalship as revealing weak spots, since he could not win victories or hold his army together. More than all, being a Jeffersonian, I resented his apparent leaning toward Hamilton and the Federalists.

When Washington Laughed.

While I had scarcely formulated these thoughts, they were lurking somewhere in the back of my head as I made my first journey to the historic shrine. The trolley running to Mount Vernon starts from Washington, crosses the Potomac, whirls through the silent fields, red clay banks and oak forests of Virginia, passes between the ancient buildings and over the cobble stones of Alexandria, hums across other fields, forests and red clay gashes in the landscape and finally brings up at a small and very modern cross between a building and a shack near the ancient gate of an estate.

It was a day in September when I traversed all this, and I think the spell began to work on me before I reached the colonial gateway. The Sabbath stillness perhaps had something to do with it. Autumn sunshine has a touch of magic in it anyway, especially amid quiet hills and wooded stretches

Before reaching the house there was a long run through the timber. It must have been here that Justice Bushrod Washington and Chief Justice John Marshall, although he did not become chief justice till Adams' term, once were the cause of great laughter to the immortal George. They were on a visit to the general and had brought along a change of clothes so that they could remove the stains of travel. In the wood they stopped to don the clean garments, only to discover after disrobing that they had left their bag and picked up that of a peddler, so that in place of the necessary trousers and coats they had only a lot of old pots and kettles. Their shouts of laughter at this discovery brought the general to the scene who when he saw their plight, laughed so tremendously that he lay down on the ground and rolled with great whoops.

Not dignified, you say, but very human withal and bringing us common mortals closer to the Father of His Country

Maybe this was the same wood and maybe not. Anyway it pleased me to think so, nor did I want to spoil the impression by stopping to inquire. Once within the gate itself I remember several great trees. I do not recall what variety they were, only that they were stately and solemn. Some of them seemed old enough to have been alive when G. W. was on earth.

Before the Tomb.

I am not going to describe Mount Vernon. That has been done 50,000 times and is a bromide. I am only trying to tell its psychological effects on one visitor. I wandered about in my own way, asking no questions of anybody I think it was when I was in the house that the spell really began to work. I saw the key of the Bastille presented by Lafayette through Thomas Paine, the music room, the living and dining room, the hallway, the bedroom where Washington died, and all the time I was soaking in a little more of the impression Then I got out on the front veranda, a regular colonial porch with two story pillars, and looked down the steep, long hill to the shimmer of the Potomac. By this time the spell was working overtime

I hardly know what led my feet along a walk gradually curving down the hill among the trees I knew not what lay at the end, but only drifted on, thinking many things and feeling things that scarcely took the form of thoughts Suddenly the path curved more sharply and ended at the door of a tomb On it, woven in flowers, appeared the single name, "Washington"

It was here that the spell really took hold of me with all its force I had an inner vision of the majesty and purity of a great soul I saw here the hallowed shrine of a mighty nation and of races of men unborn This tomb was an end and a beginning, the end of a life, but the beginning of an earthly as well as of a higher immortality This grave, as much as that of Abraham marked the dawn of a new era in the history of mankind

In some subtle way, almost unconsciously to myself, my preconceived notions of Washington crumbled and gave place to others infinitely higher, more sympathetic and more just There was no tangible thing to convince me of error, no appeal to my reason No one spoke to me except an old colored servant, who said that he remembered Washington and looked ancient enough to have done so. No argument was made. Yet my heart was won, which is perhaps a gateway to the understanding with us all.

As I walked slowly up the hill the spell swept over me with even greater power. I felt the thoughts of a nation concentrated upon this place. They were almost palpable. And not only of a nation, but in a sense of all mankind. Those in every land hoping for better days and for the dawn of justice thought of Washington. His name had become the symbol of republicanism and liberty. It was no longer that of a man only, but the badge of a worldwide cause. Republics would blossom all round the earth, and of each one of them this man in some sense would be the spiritual father.

Then I saw the character of this white soul in a new light, his unselfishness, his patience, his faith, the way he had won over great obstacles and over heartbreaking desertions and indifference. I thought of his longing for this quiet and beautiful retreat and how he gave it all up to serve his fellow men. I saw his justice, his balance, his wisdom, his spiritual insight. More than all, I saw how he had become emblematic of the hopes of the race. Then I realized that the defects which I had beheld, even if they existed, were but spots on the sun. In the divine currents of history things do not happen by accident. This man was the worthy leader of the greatest group that had appeared on earth in 1,800 years.

Cincinnatus of the West.

From the broad bosom of the Potomac Mount Vernon presents yet a new aspect. Here it is seen as a slight rise, a little hillock in the high shore line. The house is scarcely visible among the trees The band plays as we pass it, and one involuntarily clutches off a hat and feels a thrill and a choking, for the spell again is on him—the spell of Washington, which is perhaps the mightiest name in the political history of the human race.

Standing by the railing of the boat on this autumn day so long ago came to my mind the stanza that Byron added to his "Ode to Napoleon"

Where may the wearied eye repose
When gazing on the great,
Where neither guilty glory glows
Nor despicable state?
Yes, one—the first, the last, the best,
The Cincinnatus of the west,
Whom envy dared not hate,
Bequeathed the name of Washington
To make man blush there was but one

AMERICA'S DEBT OF PIOUS GRATITUDE.

[From Washington's first inaugural.]

No people can be bound to acknowledge and adore the invisible hand which conducts the affairs of men more than those of the United States. Every step by which they have advanced to the character of an independent nation seems to have been distinguished by some token of providential agency. And in the important revolution just accomplished in the system of their united government the tranquil deliberations and voluntary consent of so many distinct communities from which the event has resulted cannot be compared with the means by which most governments have been established without some return of pious gratitude, along with an humble anticipation of the future blessings which the past seem to presage

THE EMPLOYMENT LIABILITY BILL

Paid agents of private liability insurance companies are reported to be going into the counties of the state and organizing opposition to the Green Workmen's Compensation bill or putting through a substitute measure containing what the private concerns want.

For several weeks these paid agents of the liability companies sent delegations of employers to Columbus to plead with the Governor to exert his influence against the Green bill, but after talks with the State Executive and listening to explanations by him of the provisions of the proposed legislation, those men returned home satisfied no hardship or injustice would be imposed on the employers, and they are supporters of the bill.

The Green bill must pass the house; but, it appears, the liability companies will not continue their fight against it out in the open at Columbus. Instead, they have adopted the subtle plan of inspiring opposition among employers, who have not studied the pending bill.

This is the last stand of a special interest that in the past forfeited the confidence of the people interested in workmen's compensation by merciless and pitiless contracts that really provided for the withholding of compensation from the maimed and unfortunate dependents of the killed and compelled them to fight every just claim for damage through all the courts, rather than to pay it.

If the unanimous vote of favor given the bill in the senate is a criterion of the sentiment in the general assembly on this measure, the members of the house will just as successfully resist the blandishments of all opponents as did Governor Cox.

REMEDY FOR THE "MONEY TRUST"

Whether the Pujo committee which investigated the "Money Trust," will get a report before congress is a matter of doubt in the minds of some Washington correspondents. It does not so much matter whether a report is submitted, because the whole country has followed the investigation, and every man knows that there is a dangerous concentration of money and credit power in New York. Students of the question realize that this condition is due to our antiquated banking system, which permits the redepositing of country bank reserves with the big banks, and makes Stock Exchange securities the only liquid basis of credit. The way to put an end to the danger is by reforming the system which is at fault for it.

CONGRESSMAN ASHBROOK GETTING WORDS OF PRAISE FROM HIS CONSTITUENTS

Congressman Ashbrook is receiving commendations from the newspapers and citizens of the 17th district in a manner that shows that his efforts to secure favors for his constituents as member of the Public Buildings Committee are highly appreciated. The Coshocton Times expresses appreciation as follows:

"To say that Coshocton appreciates the efforts made in her behalf by Mr. Ashbrook is to express it mildly. He was fortunate enough to be on the committee which made out the list of appropriations and he saw that Coshocton got her full share, instead of being left out in the cold like many another city in the country, which didn't happen to have a live wire on the job over at Washington."

"The glad hand, which has always been extended to Congressman Ashbrook when he visits Coshocton, will be extended even more cordially when he pays his next visit to this city and the building which sooner or later will grace some prominent corner here will always be a monument to his memory."

In publishing the amounts appropriated to towns and cities located in the 17th Congressional district by the Public Buildings Committee, the Holmes County Farmer has the following to say:

"It is evident that Congressman Ashbrook, who is a member of this committee, looked well after his own district and state. The 17th district gets three items: Coshocton $115,000; New Philadelphia $12,500; and Millersburg $7,500. Appropriations have heretofore been made for Newark and Wooster, all having been secured by Mr. Ashbrook except for the original Newark appropriation, which is good evidence of what long service and good committee assignments mean."

The New Philadelphia Times offers words of praise thus:

"Ashbrook on the Job."

"The fact that Congressman Ashbrook is thoroughly alive to the interests of this congressional district is evidenced by his success in securing appropriations for public buildings in the district. The omnibus public building bill now pending in the house carries an appropriation of twenty-five million dollars, one million six hundred and five thousand dollars of which goes to Ohio. Congressman Ashbrook, who is a member of the committee having the bill in charge looked well after the interests of his district and state. Through his personal efforts the bill carries appropriations for postoffice buildings for Coshocton, of $115,000; and for sites for New Philadelphia $12,500; and Millersburg $7,500; Newark and Wooster having heretofore been provided for. This is an evidence of what a congressman can accomplish with a good record and long, faithful services. The people of this city rejoice over the prospect of getting a public building in the near future."

THE MISSION OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY

(Enquirer.)

The Democratic administration, which takes charge of the government on the 4th of next month, is intrusted with a wonderful mission on behalf of the people; is given a golden opportunity to display wise statesmanship, and its record of performance, able or inefficient, worthy or unworthy, glorious or inglorious, will determine the fitness or unfitness of the party leaders.

It was in the fullness of time, its mission being ended, that the Republican party virtually disappeared at the last election. It had been for years in process of disintegration under the management of machine committees controlling public patronage, a magnificent edifice, massive, powerful and strong in its prime, but its arches, its columns, its walls of popular support had been weakened by continued errors, sapped by years of misdoing, and fell into ruins through its disregard of changes in the sentiment of the people.

This demolition was brought about through acceptance by great masses of the Republican party of Democratic principles and policies which had triumphed in the Democratic temple only after more than sixteen years of severe and continued struggles within that organization against reactionaries.

With the great majority of its political adversaries now in active support of the same tenets of faith, differing only in the methods to be employed to attain the same ends, as said above, there exists a golden opportunity to perform in an admirable and enduring manner the mission the party has been called upon to carry to successful completion.

While revolutions never go backward, and for more than ten years this country has been under the influence of a peaceful, yet actual, revolution in sentiment and action, yet slow, steady, practical, progressive revolutions are always the safest, the most enduring and produce the best results.

The vast majority of the voters of the United States are opposed to radical innovation, to untried and unwarranted measures of government, to anything akin to shock or danger to existing business conditions, or to the basic principles of the government.

They desire reform and progress in an orderly, secure and safe manner, with due regard of all problems, with due regard to the guarantees of the Federal Constitution, that have for more than a century proved their inestimate worth.

Power brings with it such responsibilities that it has become historical that wise men, even those with radical views, become conservative when confronted with actual performance of public duty.

The enemies of Democracy, who watch and wait for radical and destructive administration under the incoming administration, will be woefully disappointed if given reforms that will encourage business; that will broaden its scope and increase its volume, add to the opportunities for our people to earn honest livings and attain financial independence; that cannot be construed as crusades against either labor or capital, but preserving in the law, through the law and by the law, their fullest co-operation.

At the very beginning the new administration will be compelled to disclose its policies as to foreign relations, and in this field it stands to quickly keep or lose the confidence of the people.

The people are as firmly opposed to an aggressive jingo policy of dealing with other countries as they are to a weak, evasive, indecisive or impractical program that would belittle the United States and cause its flouting by even the weakest of races or governments.

The country expects the administration to extend the influence of the United States upon every ocean and continent by a resolute, firm and dignified treatment of every question that comes up.

It stands by the Monroe doctrine to the fullest, and that latest Democratic interpretation of it as given in Cleveland's Venezuela message.

It will demand full rights and complete protection for American citizens everywhere under the sun and will not fail to condemn where such protection is neglected or wanting.

The country has intrusted the Democratic party with power, hoping for the same class of national results that came to it through Jefferson, Monroe, Jackson, Polk and Cleveland's first administration.

Taxation of Manufacturing Plants.

A word from the County Auditor and City Board of Review in regard to the resolutions recently passed by the Newark Board of Trade on the question of valuations of property of manufacturing plants may not be out of order.

We feel it is due the shorter, the mechanic, and the large majority of the home owners who make up the warp and woof of the property of our city, and who are the merchants' best customers, to understand our position in this matter, and knowing it, we are quite willing that they be the judges of the correctness or falsity of our position.

The constitution of the state, Article XII, Sec. 2, provides "Laws shall be passed, taxing by a uniform rule, all moneys, credits, investments in bonds, stocks, joint stock companies, or otherwise, and also all real and personal property, according to its true value in money." The State Tax Commission following the holdings of the courts in regard to this section have instructed all subordinate taxing officials, that all taxable property of whatever kind, was to be listed according to the one rule, viz: "according to its true value in money." This is the rule we have endeavored to follow, it being the supreme and fundamental law in regard to taxation. The Board of Trade, therefore, is wrong in assuming that a different rule is applied in assessing the property of corporations from the one applied in assessing the property of individuals. There is but one rule, "according to its true value in money," and we have endeavored to follow this rule as well in the case of individuals as with corporations.

The value of a manufacturing plant may fairly be said to be what it is worth as a going concern. A corporation will hardly dispose of all its property for less than the aggregate value of its stocks and bonds, and the market value of its stocks and bonds can hardly be determined without inquiring into its earning capacity, its surplus, &c. The earning capacity is one of the chief factors in determining the value of any kind of property, whether it be an office building, a farm, or a manufacturing plant. If this element were eliminated, the only value a manufacturing plant would have would be the value of its separate parts—its junk value.

As a result of the application of this rule by the State Tax Commission, the County Auditor and the Boards of Review, it is safe to say that 95 per cent of the taxpayers of the city have paid 20 per cent less taxes, than before the rule was placed in operation. The Board of Trade will hardly urge that we return to the old method under which from 1900 to 1910 some of the manufacturing concerns of the city paid on less than 20 per cent of their "true value in money," while many of the home owners paid on a valuation of from 60 to as high as 90 per cent of their "true value in money."

We believe the Board of Trade meant to urge upon our law makers that such steps be taken as will bring about a change in our constitution under which property could be classified for purposes of taxation, and the property of manufacturing concerns on account of their great value to the cities in which they are located—a value universally recognized—listed for taxation at less than its "true value in money." That such a classification would be desirable may be true, but this can be brought about only by an amendment to the constitution. A lower valuation for manufacturing concerns may be desirable but we do not believe that the Board of Trade or the citizens of Newark would desire that we violate our oaths by arbitrarily adopting a rule in plain violation of the express terms of the constitution.

Respectfully,
W. H. ANDERSON,
E. S. RANDOLPH,
JOS. W. HORNER,
Board of Review.

Chesapeake and Ohio will in all probability do some financing before the end of the current fiscal year, but no sale of securities will be authorized before April 1, at least. The company has plenty of funds to meet its present need and will not require any new money before June 1. Directors have not decided definitely as to what form the financing, if made, will take. The company has an authorized issue of which has ever been sold. There are also remaining unsold about $5,500,000 of the $37,200,000 20-year 4½ per cent. convertible bonds authorized in 1910.

Since the close of the last fiscal year Chesapeake and Ohio has disposed of $5,500,000 of the three-year 4½ per cent. notes, which mature June 1, 1914, making $25,000,000 of these notes now outstanding, which is the full authorized amount.

THE HUMAN PROCESSION

OTTO KAHN, 46 TODAY, IS ONE OF WORLD'S GREAT BANKERS.

Although only forty-six years old Friday, Otto Herman Kahn has risen to leadership in one of the six greatest banking concerns of the world. Born at Mannheim, Germany, he won his financial spurs in New York, and his operations now extend to every country of the globe. The young Jew, a wizard of high finance was educated in a German college, served a year in the army of the fatherland, and learned banking in the hard school of experience. His early ambition was to become a great musician, but the sound business sense of his race told him that more was to be gained in other lines. A brother yielded to the musical impulse, and became a professor of music in a German university, but Otto successfully resisted the lure of the arts, although he has since become a great patron of music. His father was a banker, and after an apprenticeship under the parental eye, Otto was given a position in the London branch of the Deutsche Bank. He remained there five years, and in 1893 went to New York as the American manager of the London banking house of Speyer & Company. In the twenty years of his American residence he has become a colossus of Wall street, and the head of the great banking house of Kuhn, Loeb & Company. This firm was closely allied with the railroad activities of the late E. H. Harriman, and Mr. Kahn had a hand in all the big deals engineered by that captain of industry. Mr. Kahn spends much of his time in Europe, and only recently returned from a vacation in England. Besides being a liberal patron of music and other arts, and a contributor to several scientific institutions, Mr. Kahn is greatly interested in aviation. Not long ago he was quoted as predicting that the passage of the Atlantic by hydro-aeroplane will become an accomplished fact in the near future.

To assist farmers of America in purchasing agricultural implements is the purpose of a six-million-dollar corporation recently organized, in which one of the prime movers is Albert Henry Wiggin, president of the Chase National Bank of New York. Mr. Wiggin, who celebrated his forty-fifth birthday Friday, is the son of a Massachusetts clergyman, and at the age of seventeen started life as clerk in a Boston bank. Since then he has held about every position a bank has to offer, and is now the head of one of the largest financial institutions of the American metropolis and a director in a number of trust companies and other corporations, in company with other prominent bankers of New York, Chicago, Minneapolis and other cities, he has now engaged in the launching of a big corporation which will buy farmers' notes from implement manufacturers. By this system, it is alleged, the manufacturers will be able to extend better credit to the farmers. Incidentally, the scheme is also expected to pay a good profit to the bankers interested.

Prof. Brander Matthews, speling reformer and dramatic literature "prof." at Columbia University, was born in New Orleans sixty-one years ago Friday. Mr. Matthews has long been an earnest advocate of a reformed orthography, and was the first chairman of the Simplified Speling Bord. He has the courage of his convictions, up to a certain point, and always writes tho' for though, and likewise altho and thoro. He dislikes the "ph" terminations, and spells it "paragraf." Also, he would like to know why the same sound should be represented by "ie" in believe, and "ei" in perceive. And will somebody please tell Prof. Matthews why phantom is spelled with ph, and why "ough" should have so many different sounds, as in rough, hiccough, plough, rough, through and though?

Washington and Lincoln on Affairs of Today

THE shade of Lincoln paused before the shade of Washington, who was nonchalantly reclining under a cherry tree near the banks of the Styx.

"They are having great doings today in your honor, back yonder," said Lincoln.

"Yes," replied Washington, with a sigh. "But I wish it wasn't quite so much feasting and talk. They get together, eat a fine dinner, make a lot of speeches about the glorious future and the glorious past, and everybody feels pretty well satisfied with himself and his country; and then the next day, they go back to their grafting, or their sweat-shopping, or their stock gambling, and I can't see that the celebration of my birthday has done very much real good. I am afraid the only tangible results are bills and indigestion."

"You might think you had attended one of your own dinners," said Lincoln. "You seem to be suffering from the 'day after' feeling."

"I am just as much interested in their affairs," said Washington, "as if I was down there in the thick of the fray. And I tell you, they've got some pretty big problems on their hands."

"Yes, every age has its problems. There would be no progress if it didn't. But you can trust the people. The heart of the American people is sound and beats true."

"But the American people of today are not the American people of your time or my time," said Washington with a melancholy shake of his head. "There was a certain homogeneity of belief and blood then, that we could count on. But it is too heterogeneous now. Every fellow is for himself."

"It only seems that way because nothing comes up to bind them together. But there is a feeling abroad there now that is bigger and finer than anything of our day. We had some of the biggest questions to settle the country ever wrestled with. But it was the very thing that these were concrete problems, that here was some actual thing to do, that helped settle them. But now, it is more the abstract questions of right and wrong, the abstract question of brotherhood, that is beginning to permeate and leaven. Every one of our countrymen is beginning to feel that it is up to him to help stop grafting, to take care of the alien that comes, to aid in stamping out tuberculosis, to lend his influence to prevent child labor. It is coming home to each one that he is his brother's keeper. It is a magnificent spirit, but it is not so easy to enlist in its cause, as to join an actual army marching away to fight an actual war. But it is the spirit of the American of today. And we can trust it, brother, to struggle to victory, just as the spirit of liberty won out in your day, and the spirit of union in mine."

"Well, maybe," said George, brightening. "It certainly was a pull in my time. Yet every man stood to his guns."

"And it certainly was a pull in mine," responded Lincoln. "Yet, no one faltered. So you needn't fear for the present. I have not lost my faith in the people. In the moment of test, you can depend upon them to line up with the right."

SAGE TEA IS HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN GRAY, FADED HAIR

Mixed With Sulphur Makes Hair Soft, Lustrous and Cures Dandruff.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out of date. Nowadays skilled chemists do this better than ourselves. By asking at any drug store for the ready-to-use product—called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy"—you will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Some druggists make their own, which is usually too sticky, so insist upon getting "Wyeth's" which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known down-town druggist says his customers insist on Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because, they say, it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use too. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. Do this at night and by morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant. Mrs. Fred Jones entertained the sewing club of which she is a member, at her home 95 Granville street, Friday afternoon and after a pleasant session spent in needle work, the hostess served a most enjoyable lunch to the club and the following guests: Mesdames Joseph Broughton, Dan D. Tullis, J. W. Thompson, T. M. Edmiston, B. M. East, Frank Felix, W. L. Prout, W. P. Miller, Henry and Fred L. Woodbridge, Winey, Elliott Forry, Clemmons, and Miss Ema Spencer.

The Monday Talks will meet Monday at the home of Mrs. W. W. Neal of North Fifth street.

Miss Lillian Rugg delightfully entertained the members of her sewing club at her home in Locust street on Friday evening. The hours were given over to the club divertisement and a dainty luncheon was served. Among the guests of the club was Mrs. Walter Frazier of Frazeysburg, O.

Miss Lucile Brown delightfully honored her fourteenth birthday anniversary Friday evening at her home in Columbia street by entertaining quite a number of her young friends who gathered to spend the evening with her. Many games and guessing contests afforded the amusements and dainty refreshments were served. Miss Lucile was the recipient of many pretty gifts. After a jolly time all wished the hostess many more such happy birthdays and departed.

One of the social events of the week was a birthday party given in honor of Miss Helen Smith on Pound street, it being her fifteenth birthday anniversary. The evening was spent in music and games, after which a delicious luncheon was served.

TODAY'S BEAUTY RECIPES.
By Mme. D'Mille.

"To remove superfluous hair on face or forearms, make a paste with a little powdered delatone and water. Cover the hairs, leave on [illegible] minutes, wipe off, wash the skin and the hairs will be gone. This treatment is less expensive than the electric needle and just as satisfactory in results.

"No woman looks her best when suffering from aches or pains. Mother's Salve is penetrating, entering the pores at once and giving almost instant relief. It is comforting and soothing for pains and aches in back or joints, sore muscles, bruises, rheumatism and neuralgia.

[illegible]

"The beautiful complexion of girlhood can be retained or restored, if lost, by gently massaging face, neck and arms each morning with a solution made by dissolving an original package of mayatone in a half pint of witch hazel. It leaves the skin smooth and white, soft and lovely.

"Of all the various shampoos on the market, I prefer M[illegible]'s Stampoo, because it removes from the scalp the parasites that cause falling hair and baldness. It may be purchased from any druggist at 25 cents a package of ten shampoos. It will put dry, brittle, dull and faded hair in a glossy, fluffy condition."

A VEST POCKET ESSAY ON ELECTRIC SIGNS.

(Written by George Fitch. Reprinted from the Chicago Record-Herald).

An electric sign is a piece of long distance reading matter published at meter rates.

Electric signs are printed on the black night in neat golden letters and can be seen a great ways. By means of these signs the main street of a great city now looks like the advertising section of a popular magazine magnified a hundred times and set on fire. Electric signs are indigenous to America, and when the Englishman arrives in this country and sees his first eruption of 2 candle power remarks he is afraid to walk up Broadway without a fire extinguisher.

Away back in the early ages of science, some ten years ago, electric signs were quiet and well behaved. But as competition grew keener some genius invented an electric sign which would wink. This was followed by a sign [illegible] refreshments every half minute, [illegible] leaving the world gasping for [illegible] until [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible]

All the signs [illegible] electric [illegible] and when a citizen has once gotten fascinated by their antics it is impossible for him to tear himself away from them. The world is now full of flaming handwriting on the walls, but most of it is frivolous and doesn't [illegible] morals to any extent.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — Clever Major Waits on His Kind Mistress

THE clock had sounded the last stroke of the bedtime hour as Jack and Evelyn came scampering up to daddy's chair.

"You ought to let me off for one evening anyway," he grumbled as he laid his paper aside.

"Ah, you know we can't!" the children replied. "Besides, you promised us the stories."

"Well," said daddy, "I happen to know another good story about my friend, the big brown spaniel Major, the faithful companion of a lady who lives in a nice little country town.

"They are alone so much that she has got into the habit of talking to Major just as if he were a human being. When she talks to him Major sits up and looks at her out of his bright golden brown eyes as much as to say: 'Yes, indeed, dear mistress; I understand quite well what you are saying. What a pity that human folks can't learn to speak the doggie way. There are so many interesting things I should like to tell you.'

"Just the same, they do understand one another pretty well. His mistress has trained Major to fetch and carry for her, and, as he is a big strong dog, he can often save her many steps.

"One thing that he is fond of doing is to fetch her slippers from upstairs when she comes home after having been out for awhile. Major knows when she puts her slippers on she is going to stay at home with him.

"When he is told to go upstairs and bring down her street shoes he goes very slowly and, bringing them down, gives them up very unwillingly. He is too good a doggie not to do as he is told, but sometimes, no doubt, he does wish that he could hide those old street shoes away where his mistress could not find them and go off, as she sometimes does, for a whole day at a time.

"When he is left alone Major sometimes gets reckless. He has his own cushion in the kitchen, and when his mistress is there he never tries to climb up on the parlor chairs, though they are so roomy and softly cushioned that they must often look very tempting to a tired dog.

"There is one chair in particular that stands just by a window. When Major sits in that he can see who passes along the street or opens the gate.

"Sometimes Major will stand and look longingly at the chair, but unless he is very naughty he does not venture to jump up.

"However, when his mistress goes away Major doesn't care at all whether he is a good dog or not, and then he climbs right up on the chair to look out.

"Just as soon as the dog hears his mistress coming into the gate, however, he jumps heavily to the floor, and by the time she gets the door unlocked he is waiting inside ready to give her a warm welcome."

He has been a patient sufferer and his friends will learn with regret of his new affliction.

Our idea of a true friend is one who won't hold us responsible tomorrow for the things we say today. What's yours?

DOES THIS FIT YOUR OWN CASE?

"Every business has its trials," said C. T. Dricker, proprietor of the City Drug Store, "and one of the greatest that the drug stores have to bear up under is that fact that very often some of their best friends and patrons take their prescriptions to some other druggist under the delusion that they must, simply because that druggist's name happens to be on the piece of paper on which the doctor writes the prescription. Often this is by chance, as all drug stores are glad to furnish these blanks to the physicians, but sometimes this happens by design, as the doctor may feel friendlier toward some particular druggist for personal reasons."

But no matter what name is on the prescription you get, you can always be assured of the absolutely safe compounding of it at the City Drug Store. With three registered pharmacists in constant attendance, this store is not only prepared to fill the most difficult prescriptions, but to do it promptly. Your every want for anything in the drug line will receive the most courteous attention at the City Drug Store. 22-1t

SUBSTANTIAL GAINS MADE BY ADVENTISTS

Through a report from Professor B. G. Wilkinson, president of the Columbia Union Conference of Seventh Day Adventists, to the elder of the local body, it has been learned that substantial gains were made during 1912 in the Union, which comprises the state conferences of Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Delaware and the District of Columbia. Over $120,000 was received in tithe, the method employed by Adventists for the support of the evangelical work in this country and mission fields, during 1912, a gain of more than $17,000 over the previous year. Of this amount the Ohio Conference, which includes the local church, gave $26,881, a gain of $5,576.59 over 1911.

Professor Wilkinson stated that the members of his charge, in following out the plan laid out by the General Conference of Seventh Day Adventists for raising 10 cents a week per member for missions, had not reached the mark in 1911, whereas in 1912 they raised 15 cents a week; and besides $26,000 of the tithe, the Conference handed over to the general organization nearly $55,000. This gain, Professor Wilkinson stated, was the largest, in proportion, he had ever heard of in any of the union conferences comprising the General.

In addition to the above amounts, it was also stated that donations were coming in for the support of the institutions run by the Columbia Union Conference, Mt. Vernon College in Ohio receiving $5,000 during 1912, with pledges of $11,000 more. Churches are being erected at a total approximate cost of $120,000 in Washington, D. C., Newark and Trenton, N. J., Charleston and Parkersburg, W. Va., Baltimore and Hagerstown, Md., Williamsport, Pa., and Wilmington, Delaware, most of which will be dedicated free from debt.

President Wilkinson said that approximately $500,000 had been raised for missions in all the unions in North America, and that his conference donated about one-sixth of this.

HAD ECZEMA TWENTY YEARS

And Was Cured Completely in Two Weeks Time by the Use of Goodhair Soap.

"Gentlemen: I have been sick, I may say, for the last 20 years; went to Hot Springs, St. Paul, Minn. and Indiana, and was benefited while there but when I came home it was the same old story. My God, I would lie awake at night and scratch until I was weak and exhausted. Then I might sleep for an hour, but my sleep would only be the cause of more torture when I would wake up. My itching seems to be the worst on my head, face, arms and legs. Sometimes the burning sensations are enough to drive me crazy. There are no sores of any kind on me, only a dry scaly skin, or it is raw and very, tender. I have spent a fortune in medicine, have taken——— remedies by the dozen; would use a box of———Salve in two days. I could not say how many bottles of ——— and——— Medicine, but I must say I HAVE DERIVED MORE BENEFIT FROM GOODHAIR SOAP THAN ANY OTHER. I HAVE TAKEN IN SUCH A SHORT TIME. I CAN GO TO BED NOW, AND STAY UNTIL I AM READY TO GET UP IN THE MORNING — SOMETHING I HAVE NOT DONE IN TEN OR FIFTEEN YEARS.

I have told three friends of mine who are so troubled, but they said they could not get that soap here. The drug clerk said he had not heard of it before.

I shall never forget the kindness of Dr. Hughes of Garrett, Ind. He has done everything in his power for me. Everything he has heard of he has told me to do, and now through his kindness, AND YOUR WONDERFUL SOAP, I hope to spend a few happy and peaceful days or months on this earth. Hoping you will send me a box of Goodhair Soap at your convenience, I remain, with many thanks for your trouble."

NEWARK HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The reception tendered the parents and friends of the High school pupils on Tuesday evening by the students and teachers was a pronounced success. All the visitors enjoyed witnessing the various departments and classes in action and many citizens highly commended the work carried on in our institution.

The High school was honored with the presence of Mr. J. R. Clarke, state supervisor of agricultural education, during the past week who paid a visit to the school on Wednesday. He gave a very interesting talk to Mr. Stimson's Chemistry class and also promised to return some time again and address the student body in the chapel.

Prof. Ralph E. Mitchell, baritone soloist, who was a member of the Lyon party during their campaign in the city, gave a pleasing recital in the High school auditorium on Thursday evening. He was assisted by Miss Juna Sells, pianist, a member of the Senior class.

Through the kindness of the Licking Light and Power company, there has been installed in the Domestic Science department a complete electric cabinet, including the following utensils: An electric stove, broilers, double boiler, tea kettle, griddle iron, hot plate, fireless cooker and oven. The supervisor, Miss Billman, the girls who work in the department, and the school in general express their extreme appreciation for the gift bestowed.

Owing to the illness of Prof. Klopp, who is confined to his home with rheumatism, the boys participating in the "High School Troubadors" rehearsed at his home in West Locust street, on Wednesday evening so as not to hinder the progress of the annual minstrel.

The regular business meeting of the Athenian Literary society was held Thursday afternoon. After the business of the society had been transacted, a literary program was given in addition.

The basket ball management offered two intensely interesting and exciting games last evening to basket ball enthusiasts at Hickey Hall. Newark met their old rivals, Zanesville High, and the second team boys clashed with Glenford High school.

On Friday evening at 7 o'clock the Science club met in the literary room of the High school and rendered an instructive and entertaining program.

This forenoon at ten o'clock Principal C. H. Winans of Mt. Vernon, Principal E. H. White of Zanesville, and Assistant Principal J. A. Tait met at the Hotel Warden to select judges for the debates which occur March 14.

This week Forrest Farmer, as advertising manager of the minstrel, visited each school building to place tickets into the hands of the children for the matinee. The proceeds are to be used for the improvement of the athletic field, therefore the grade children should be very much interested since they will reap the largest benefit therefrom.

Among the visitors at the High school yesterday to witness the Junior program were: Mrs. F. M. B. Windle, Mrs. Samuel Sachs, Mrs. John Sachs, Mrs. Africa, Mrs. Harris, Miss Nellie Ballou, Miss Irene Hey, Frederic Chase, John Ward and Mr. Seth Haight, clerk of the Board of Education.

Miss Janet Jones, accompanied the girls' basket ball team to Columbus yesterday evening to play the South High team. Harry Lucas went along to officiate in the game. The players were: Grace Jones, Olive Nicholas, Mildred Gou, Florence Lenert, Gladys Keenan, Margaret Moore, Katharine Butler.

Mothers Can Safely Buy

Dr. King's New Discovery and give it to the little ones when ailing and suffering with colds, coughs, throat or lung troubles; tastes nice, harmless, once used, always used. Mrs. Bruce Crawford, Niagra, Mo., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery changed our boy from a pale, weak, sick boy to the picture of health." Always helps. Buy it at Hall's Drug Store.

Marriage, from the spinster's point of view, is merely an opportunity for a girl to throw herself away on some fellow.

FIRST THINGS

PHILOSOPHY OF PESSIMISM.

The first Occidental philosopher to formulate a system of pessimistic thought was Arthur Schopenhauer, who was born in Germany 125 years ago today, and died in 1860. Schopenhauer, who now has hundreds of thousands of followers in Europe and America, taught that this is the worst possible of worlds, that human life is one long tragedy, that evil always triumphs over good, and that pain is ever dominant over joy. His teachings were largely influenced by the theories of Hindu and other Oriental philosophers. "We feel pain, but not painlessness," wrote the greatest of modern philosophers. "We feel care, but not the absence of care; fear, but not security. We feel the wish as we feel hunger and thirst, but as soon as it has been fulfilled it is like [illegible] mouthful that has been taken, which ceases to exist for our feeling [illegible] moment it is swallowed." In other words, Schopenhauer mourned because he couldn't eat his cake and have it, too. His literary style was most attractive and his writings had a profound influence. He was a woman hater, blaming the fair sex for the perpetuation of the curse of life."

WEATHER WAS VARIABLE IN NEWARK TODAY

Nearly every kind of weather was experienced in Newark yesterday between 9 and [illegible] Saturday morning o'clock. For a while the sun shone brightly. In a few minutes the sky was overhung with black clouds and there was a dark gloom accompanied by hail showers. Following this a violent wind storm raged for a few minutes and soon the clouds broke and the sun was shining brightly.

The temperature for the last couple of days has been unusually warm, the thermometers being at 50 and above during the day. Shortly after ten o'clock the mercury began to drop, and indications were that the weather would become considerably colder.

The wind was so strong that vegetables were blown from the market stands in West Main street, and market baskets of pedestrians were tossed to the storm.

Flags had been placed on numerous buildings honoring the celebration of Washington's Birthday and the wind in many instances tore them from the staff. On the Memorial building the flagstaff was broken and the flag was hurled from the Hall building. The bowl of Kibler's auditorium was also blown off in the storm and many signs were displaced.

$100 REWARD. $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address:

LABOR NEWS

The regular meeting of the Newark Trades and Labor Assembly will be held at Labor Hall tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. A full attendance of delegates is desired, as there is business to be transacted in which all should take a part. It is likely that there will be visitors, as several strong labor leaders are headed this way.

The committee appointed at the last meeting to confer with the ministers of the city in reference to fraternal delegates, will report.

Messrs. Morgan and Bingham, the legislative committee, were in attendance at the legislative sessions last Tuesday week, in behalf of the Haas and Green bills.

The label committee should have an interesting report.

President Morgan and Chaplain Lowery opened the last meeting promptly on time, with all officers and nearly a full complement of delegates present. The proposition to have the Board of Education open a free night school was unanimously endorsed. Secretary Johnson read a number of communications, which were referred to proper committees. The labor committee was instructed to ascertain why all union made bread did not carry the union label.

Push the union label, brothers, at all times.

He remained on his father's farm until he was 21 years of age and in the spring of 1881 he started on his career to become a civil engineer. His first position was that of axman with an engineering corps with the Columbus & Eastern railroad. Frank J. Aid was his chief.

Mr. Cully was studious and a close observer and his first year with the engineering corps was sufficient education to fit him for the position of resident engineer with the Columbus & Eastern the following year.

From that time on his advancement was rapid and he accepted numerous important engineering positions in various parts of the country. His operations extended throughout Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Indiana, Alabama, Mississippi, Kansas and Nebraska. During his travels over the country his engineering work consisted of every branch of his profession. Bridge building, mining, railroad work, town sites, government and county work fell to his lot and in each commission he gave general satisfaction. He was appointed city engineer for Sandusky in the summer of [illegible] and county surveyor for Erie county during the same year.

"CASCARETS" BEST BOWEL CLEANSER

No Biliousness, Headache, Sick, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Coated Tongue or Constipation.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver, and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

England Plans Two Memorials to Honor George Washington

A New York tavern was the scene years ago today of the first celebration of Washington's birthday. Today the anniversary will be observed as a legal holiday in every state of the Union, and in Porto Rico and Alaska, while in Hawaii and the Philippines the "father of his country" will be honored. Most significant of all, the British committee for the celebration in 1914 of the centenary of Anglo-American peace will observe the day by planning two memorials to the memory of the first President of the United States. In the mother country all the old animosities that linked the name of Washington with that of "rebel" are forgotten, and Britons now remember only that he was a great man, and an Englishman.

It is proposed that one of the English memorials to Washington take the form of a monument in Westminster Abbey or in Westminster Hall. The other project is for the purchase of Sulgrave Manor, in Northamptonshire, the ancestral home of Washington, to be preserved as a permanent Washington museum.

The old manor is in the tiny rural village of Northends, five miles from Banbury. The first Washington to own the property was Laurence, son of John Washington of Lancashire. He amassed a fortune as a wool merchant in London, and was knighted by Henry VII. The manor and lands of Sulgrave were given to Laurence Washington by King Henry following the dissolution of the monasteries. Laurence erected the house, a quaint old structure, which still bears the royal arms of Queen Elizabeth, and the mullets and bars of the Washington family. Laurence Washington was twice mayor of Northampton, and held many other positions of honor. The tomb of Laurence and his wife, Amy, marked by a brass tablet, may still be seen in the old Church of St. James at Sulgrave. There is a tradition that Laurence Washington was a personal friend of Shakespeare, but there is no proof.

The founder of Sulgrave was succeeded by his son, Robert, a spendthrift, who speedily disbursed the family fortune, while Sulgrave passed out of his hands. Robert's grandson, Laurence, revived the reputation of the family, becoming a popular clergyman. The Rev. Laurence was faithful to Charles the Second and for this was ejected from his charge by Cromwell. After his death his eldest sons, Laurence and John, sailed for the New World, settling in Virginia. John became a farmer on an estate at Northern Neck, between the Potomac and Rappahannock. John's son, Laurence, became the father of Augustine Washington, who, in turn, was the father of the great George.

One of the most enthusiastic of Washington birthday celebrations will be held today in San Juan, Porto Rico, and will include the formal opening of the third Insular Fair. This big exhibition of Porto Rican products will be held on new grounds, given to the people of the colony by the federal government. It is proposed to use the building for a permanent West Indies exhibition, in which Cuba and the islands will join. The Porto Ricans have benefitted largely from the rule of the United States and are proportionately patriotic. The production of fruits, sugar and coffee has shown a steady growth ever since the American occupation of the island. The completion of the Panama canal is expected to add to Porto Rico's prosperity. Coaling plants and repair stations will be established for the various ports of the island for the use of ships coming between Europe and the "big ditch."

NEWARK FIGHT FANS TO GO TO COSHOCTON

Twenty-five or more Newark fight fans will go to Coshocton Monday night to witness the boxing exhibitions given at the Sixth street theatre. Jack Dillon and Jack Graham, two well known pugilists, will furnish the main bout of the evening, while Kid Rogers and Battling Weedman will appear in the semi-wind up. The preliminary between Joe Jackson and Kid Adams also promises to be interesting. An added feature to amuse the fans will be a little royal between five husky negroes, who have agreed to enter the ring and endeavor to remain there.

FARM QUERIES ANSWERED

By the College of Agriculture O. S. U.

Home Mixing Fertilizers.

What are the arguments in favor of home mixing fertilizers? H. T. B.

When one buys a fertilizer already mixed he takes the risk of its containing some low grade materials. It is possible to use materials in a fertilizer mixture which would show the required amount of plant food on analysis but which would be of little value when applied because of their low availability. When a man buys fertilizer he has only the word of the man who sold it as to the form in which the materials are present. The fertilizer companies do the mixing for nothing and it is usually customary to charge rather a high price for the work done. In many cases, however, the buyer who knows something about fertilizers can buy them already mixed cheaper than he can mix them himself and in the case of mixtures of phosphorus and potassium he can be sure as to their availability by looking up the official report as published the State Board of Agriculture. The chief difficulty in buying ready mixed fertilizers lies in the uncertainty of the form in which the nitrogen is present and the price one is usually compelled to pay for it.

Vetch as a Cover Crop.

I am thinking of sowing vetch where oats and peas were this summer. It is gravelly bottom land with hard subsoil. I also want vetch or some other legume to follow a poor crop of corn. Have you any suggestions to make? W. H. C.

Winter or hairy vetch is about the only cover crop that is available at this time of the year, although it is just a little late even for this crop. If used alone the vetch should be seeded at the rate of 75 pounds per acre. Some prefer to seed with rye, using one bushel of rye to about 50 pounds of vetch seed, mixing the two together and sowing with an ordinary wheat drill. If vetch is seeded before October 1, it will make considerable growth before severe winter weather sets in and if continued growth during warm periods should enable it to cover the ground pretty thoroughly before spring.

Second Growth of Oats.

I would like advice concerning a second growth of oats on a field that has just been put into alfalfa. Should the oats be cut before frost and allowed to lie on the alfalfa or should they be allowed to freeze? C. H.

The advisability of getting the second growth of oats on your alfalfa will depend upon the growth of the oats, the presence of weeds which are likely to go to seed and the general condition of the alfalfa seeding. If the oats are not more than six or eight inches high at this time, we would not cut the field unless for the purpose of getting rid of weeds or strengthening the young alfalfa plants.

Rye as a Fertilizer.

Is rye sown in the fall and turned over in the spring of any value as a fertilizer? R. H. A.

Rye plowed under will add organic matter to the soil but it does not add plant food other than to return that which it took from the soil during its growing period. The legumes, such as clovers, alfalfa, beans, peas, etc., are the only plants that add plant food to the soil, as they only add nitrogen. However, rye sown in the fall as a cover crop will utilize available plant food in the soil and prevent its being leached out by winter rains.

THE SEVENTH MAN AT ARMAGEDDON

(Kessler's 2x4.)

"And he gathered them together into a place called in the Hebrew tongue Ar-ma-ged-don." So says the sixteenth verse of the sixteenth chapter of Revelation. Whether Theodore Roosevelt is a born prophet or a creature of circumstances as regards his position in public life, we do not know. But when the intrepid Teddy said, "We stand at Armageddon"—he spake the truth. Few people were familiar with the Biblical name—Armageddon—until Mr. Roosevelt used it in his first public address at the opening of the recent campaign, and when the speech was flashed over the wires by the Associated Press, people naturally inquired, "Where is Armageddon?" Some doubtless recalled the lines of that old hymn, "We Stand at Armageddon and Battle for the Lord," while others did not know whether it was in the jungles of Africa or in Dahoma.

A postal card from a friend the other day bearing the simple question, "What do you know about Armageddon?" caused us to turn to our much neglected Bible, and after shaking the dust from its pages, we commenced a search for this place—Armageddon—which had been so unceremoniously jerked from its obscurity in the pages of sacred history and thrust into a political campaign. Like everything else one searches for, we found it at last at the bottom of the pile—that is to say—in the sixteenth chapter of the last book — Revelation. We found that it was at Armageddon where the seven angels came forth with their "seven vials of wrath" and poured them upon the earth, the sun, the moon, etc., and there was hell to pay as a result. We followed the story closely until we came to the seventh angel—and then we understood, for the Good Book says:

"And the seventh poured out his vial into the air; and there came a great voice out of the temple of heaven, from the throne, saying, 'It is done.'

"And there were voices and thunders and lightnings; and there was a great earthquake, such as was not since men were upon earth, so mighty an earthquake and so great.

"And the great city was divided into three parts, and the cities of the nation fell. * * * and every island fled away and the mountains were not found, and there fell a great hail * * * and men blasphemed * * * for the plague was exceeding great."

Yes, indeed, did we understand. Our thoughts ran hurriedly over the political history of the country, and we soon had settled in our mind the fact that the seventh regularly-elect Republican president — beginning with Lincoln—was none other than the irrepressible Teddy. And he said, "We stand at Armageddon!"

We thought of that seventh angel with his vial of wrath. And then we thought of the seventh Republican president and his "vile" of wrath. And as he poured it out upon the air, there came a great voice from Oyster Bay, from the throne, saying, "It is done," and it was, if he referred to the Republican party.

And there were angry voices and much political thunder and terrible flashes of oratorical lightning, and then on the fifth day of the eleventh month there was a great earthquake—such as was not since Republicans have been on earth—so mighty an earthquake and so great.

And the great political body was divided into three parts, and the great cities of the nation fell—into the hands of the Democrats — and many politicians were unable to wade out from their islands, for the islands had fled away, and the mountains of political power were not found, for they had disappeared. A great hail of ballots fell, and many blasphemed, for the plague thereof was exceedingly great. And while the Good Book does not say so, yet it is recorded in the daily papers, that the man at Armageddon and his protege of four years ago were covered with the mighty hail, and, like the mountains, are not to be found.

In reviewing this remarkable coincidence of A. D. 96 and A. D. 1912 it might be well to add that after that stand at Armageddon, when the seventh had poured out his vial of wrath, that was the last ever heard of him. Let us hope that history will repeat itself even unto the end that the seventh republican president who publicly proclaimed that he stood "at Armageddon," will follow the mountains—"for the plague was exceedingly great."

KOHLER MUST RESIGN OR BE SUSPENDED

Cleveland, O., Feb. 22—Fred Kohler, head of Cleveland's police department for the last ten years and a member of the force for more than 23 years, will be suspended as chief by Mayor Baker on Monday unless he resigns before 10 o'clock that day.

Suspension will result from the filing of charges alleging Kohler guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman, and subversive to the discipline of the police force.

POSSUM RIDGE

As nearly everybody at Possum Ridge takes the Advocate except Jabez Crabton, who says that he bought a book just a couple of years ago that he hasn't finished reading yet and who thinks that maybe he will begin to take the paper as soon as he is through reading the book, I thought I would drop you a few lines about the items in this vicinity, which everyone hereabouts will read with much interest to see if their names are mentioned.

Vincent Pinkley, who is studying to be a preacher and who is visiting his aunt at the Ridge, preached at the church here last Sunday. The music was good.

Grandma Crabton is quite poorly again after having read the new patent medicine almanac.

Job Watkins and his lady friend went to town one evening this week to see the picture show. Don't be scared if there is a big noise in the neighborhood one of these nights. It will be a belling.

When Dr. Pillsbury was called to see Hugo, the 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jedediah Crofton, one day this week, the doctor said that the boy was quite severely affected with an acute, highly contagious fever with specific localization in the upper air passages and the epidermis, and while there was a possibility of polyadenitis it was likely that desquamation would probably result in a few days, without the development of bronchitis, coryza or inflammation of the Schneidarian membrane, or something of that sort, and Hugo's pa and ma were most frightened to death until the doctor told them the disease was generally called the measles.

This has been a busy week for Henry Plank's family. Tuesday he shipped sheep; Wednesday he shipped hogs and Thursday he went to town himself.

Jasper Oldring saw an item in the paper that a telephone company has 175,000 people working for it. He says he'd never guessed it, as long as it takes to get Central sometimes.

Hiram Whetling was called to Ada this week to see his son Rufus, who is in school there and who was nearly choked by having a prune seed stick in his throat.

An oyster supper will be given by the ladies' aid society this evening. The oyster was received this morning. Everybody welcome.

After a short intermission the grip is again in our midst and sneezing is the order of the day with a great many of our prominent residents.

His success has been remarkable in Chronic cases of all kinds. Diseases of the eye carefully treated and glasses fitted.

NERVOUSNESS

Without question the most difficult condition to successfully treat that is known to the medical profession. Nervousness is a result of many things, but when such cases are once fully developed, it is dangerous to allow them to go on without treatment.

Opium, Chloral, Morphine and Cocaine are often employed to allay nervous conditions. These deadly drugs are simply stimulants that have no curative effect. It requires great skill to combat diseased Nerves. Dr. Weist has several remedies that have proved a boon to such sufferers. When the Nerves give way a person is unfit for anything. If your nerves are afflicted, better commence treatment without delay.

DISEASES OF WOMEN

Diseases peculiar to Women weaken the body and mind. If neglected they drain your vitality until your life becomes miserable and unhappy. The correct treatment has been found. It is wrong to suffer when relief is at hand. How many hundreds of Women endure untold agony? One meets them on every hand. Diseases that have been neglected, minor troubles that could easily have been corrected in the beginning, but now aggravated to such an extent that they become dangerous.

It is high time to consult a Physician who really understands your case. You have suffered long enough. No matter what Doctors have given up your case as hopeless; you need not despair. Dr. Weist has special remedies that have been used successfully for years in cases of Leucorrhoea, Painful Menstruation, Displacement, Ovarian Troubles and various other diseases.

You can take this treatment at home and in privacy. No humiliating examinations necessary. No operations. No hospital treatment. Simply a sane, sensible and sure method of treatment that gives results. It does not matter what ails you, how bad your case is or how long you have suffered. Consult Dr. Weist. His opinion will be worth a great deal to you.

DISEASES OF MEN

Cases of long standing especially desired. Wrong treatment and incorrect diagnosis have often resulted in the worst afflictions. If you have Sexual Troubles, Piles, Fistula, Blood Poison, Varicocele, Urethal Discharges or any Private Disease, it is highly important that you obtain the services of a Physician who has an established reputation for treating these diseases.

Dr. Weist has made a lifetime study of Private Diseases of Men and Women and knows the quickest, safest and surest way to handle them. He gives minute attention to each and every case. You positively must not neglect treatment. Every day that passes simply makes your condition worse. Early excesses of youth, overwork, nervous debility, loss of confidence and memory, cold hands and body, and all kindred ailments should be at once thoroughly treated.

Blood Poison is one of the worst afflictions of men. Dr. Weist has a remedy that is giving wonderful results. If you are so afflicted it will be to your interest to see him without delay.

CONSULT DR. WEIST

It matters not what ails you. If you are sick you need treatment of some kind. A specialist who has made a lifetime study of such diseases is certainly prepared to give you better results than any other Physician. Dr. Weist has an established practice and treats a large number of people. He spares no effort on his part to cure you. His charges are very reasonable and if he thinks he cannot help you he will frankly and truthfully tell you so.

CONSULTATION

It costs nothing to tell Dr. Weist about your affliction. He will give you a thorough examination absolutely without charge. This alone is worth a great deal—to know what really ails you, without any doubt or guesswork about it. Everything strictly confidential. Don't fail to see the Doctor on above date.

CARTOON FROM "BABY MINE," WM. A. BRADY'S FAMOUS COMEDY, AT THE AUDITORIUM THEATRE, WEDNESDAY NIGHT, FEB. 26.

"Bought and Paid For" Tonight.

Newark theatregoers will have a chance tonight to see a presentation at the Auditorium of that play that has scored one of the biggest successes New York has ever witnessed. "Bought and Paid For" is regarded by many critics as one of the most realistic dramas of the day. Local patrons who were fortunate enough to witness this play during its long run at the Playhouse in New York, declare it to be such, and judging by the seat sale which has already marked the play's approach, they are preparing large numbers again to register their approval. This play of marital life works on every fibre of its auditors, and is heralded as a masterpiece of its author, George Broadhurst, and producer, Wm. A. Brady.

Tomorrow at the Auditorium.

The Auditorium offers a most attractive program for tomorrow afternoon and evening. A four-reel Pathe picture, entitled "The Blighted Son," will be presented, in addition to an Indian picture and two good comedies, making a six-reel program instead of the regular five.

Prof. Wm. Schmidt's Auditorium orchestra will offer a select program of popular and classical music, with several solos by different members of the orchestra. An unusually strong and interesting Sunday entertainment should result in capacity audiences tomorrow.

Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus Pictures.

What should prove one of the most delightful entertainments in the motion picture line ever seen in this city will be that of the great Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, which will be seen at the Auditorium Monday and Tuesday, March 3 and 4. It is a suprisingly wonderful production, participated in by 700 people, 300 horses, 200 wild beasts, 14 elephants, 200 performers and 50 clowns, and is so realistic that you can smell the sawdust and taste the red lemonade.

"Baby Mine."

William A. Brady (Ltd.) will offer at the Auditorium Wednesday, Feb. 26, his most successful comedy, "Baby Mine." This will be the first time here of the metropolitan cast and production. J. A. Bliss and his escapades in huting babies to make good a telegram sent to a friend that he is a father, furnish the greatest proportion of activity in the sterling comedy, "Baby Mine," which has not worked the edges off the risible market and hilarity was supreme at the playhouse of Manager Oishei. This is the third season for the comedy, and it is just as funny as ever and nine-tenths of the time the audience was in a constant roar of laughter and the other tenth found the big crowd resting for more.

Mr. Bliss is a scream and he can convey the same characteristic to the audience by one twitch of a facial muscle. He is a clever comedian and his role gives him a chance to get the laughter. If laughs were money he would be a multi-millionaire. William Courneen as the husband, played the part with ability and Miss Nanon Welch was clever as his wife. Eda von Buelow as Aggie was splendid. The company is a strong one and there is a laugh every second, even when the principals are not on the stage. Laughing is contagious in this great show. —Buffalo Times, Sept. 17, 1912.

The seat sale opens Monday.

Al. H. Wilson.

There is something peculiarly fascinating about the personality of Al. H. Wilson, the singing German dialect comedian, who comes to the Auditorium on Friday, Feb. 28. He is really the Mansfield of his particular line — complete master of pathos, with the Warfield facility of turning a tear into a smile. In his latest vehicle, "It Happened in Potsdam," Wilson has the part of an eccentric German of the better Teutonic type, and in the play is compelled by the terms of his uncle's will to marry and settle on his ancestral estate by a certain date. His wanderings all over the Orient have left an indelible imprint on his character, and returning to the locale of the play, Potsdam, he brings with him all the glamor of the East, with its mystic charm and influence. He is garbed in the style of the East and his adventures in Potsdam while seeking a suitable wife form the basis of one of the most delightful parts Wilson has shown in his splendid gallery of German portraiture. The seat sale opens Wednesday.

Belasco's "The Woman."

David Belasco's newest success, "The Woman," which scored an all-season run at one of his New York theatres, and a remarkable run of 150 nights in Chicago, comes to the Auditorium very soon. This is the play by William C. DeMille that created such a sensation in Washington, earning the applause of the president himself. A powerful Belasco cast will interpret "The Woman," including Marion Barney, Marjorie Wood, James Seeley, Howell Hansel, Austin Webb, Hugh Dillman, Hallett Thompson, Peter Raymond, Homer Granville, Kalman Matus, Frank Austin and others. James Seeley plays the forceful part of Jim Blake, the party boss. Miss Barney will be seen in the title role, and Miss Wood will portray the attractive and alert little telephone operator, Wanda Kelly. It is this role that has created so much discussion and enthusiastic comment wherever "The Woman" has been seen. David Belasco has provided an entirely new production, and the company is one of Belasco's best.

Scene from "Baby Mine," at Auditorium Next Wednesday Night.

"The Littlest Rebel" Coming.

Theatre-goers of Newark will have their first opportunity to witness A. H. Woods' mammoth production of "The Littlest Rebel" at the Auditorium on March 13 for an engagement of one performance. Marshall Farnum, younger brother of Dustin and William Farnum and a member of that noted family of the stage, is the star and will be seen as Capt. Cary of the rebel army. This play ran for twenty weeks at the Chicago opera house and six months at the Liberty theatre, New York.

George Sidney Coming Back.

George Sidney, who appeared here early this season, has been booked for a return engagement and will be seen at the Auditorium on Saturday, March 8, matinee and night, in "Busy Izzy." Packed houses will no doubt be the rule.

Orpheum Theatre's Coming Attractions.

Today—Last time for the Mark Lea Musical Comedy Co.

Tomorrow, from 12:30 to 11 p. m., big photo-play program.

Next week, starting Monday—Metropolitan Minstrels, with band concerts daily.

Special Program at Orpheum Sunday.

A great photo-play program for Sunday. One of the biggest pictures ever taken will be presented Sunday. The first big feature will be "Shipwrecked in Icebergs," which will be in three reels. This picture tells the story of the great ship lost at sea—a wonderful picture. The next thing will be Mr. Dick De Loris, member of the Mark Lea company, who will render some nice selections on the piano and banjo. Don't miss this. Next will be "Capt. Rose and the Train Wreckers," in two reels a wonderful story of heart interest. As a special feature we will have "On the Battle Field," a big Kee Bee two-reel feature.

The doors will open at 12:30 sharp, and the performance will start at 1 o'clock and run without a stop. A big feature program no one can afford to miss. Music by Grace Cranston and her little orchestra, and all pictures on the new sunlight screen.

Orpheum Theatre.

Another big show is looked for next week at the Orpheum. The Metropolitan Minstrels will be the attraction. This company is one of the best small minstrel shows on the road, and comes to the Orpheum with the stamp of merit upon it. The chorus with this show is said to be very clever and the musicians will furnish a treat of fun. Each day, before the performance, there will be a band concert at the entrance of the Auditorium. Special scenery will accompany the different acts. This is a show that everybody must see and it may be well to know that seats are now on sale for the Monday performance.

The ladies' souvenir matinees will be on Tuesday and Thursday, and on Friday we will have the "Country Store," and 25 prizes will be given away.

Tonight will be your last chance to see the Mark Lea company in that funny musical play "A Night in Room 44."

On Sunday Mr. Dick De Loris of the Mark Lea company will take part in the concert and will give a musical entertainment. Don't miss the Sunday program.

CAVALIERI AT COLUMBUS.

Lina Cavalieri, the operatic singer, world famed as a beauty, has decided to desert the grand opera field for the concert platform. It is the intimate relation with the concert artist has with the audience that appeals to the Italian prima donna and accordingly she has arranged a three months tour in Mexico, Canada and the United States, one concert of which itinerary will be given at Memorial Hall, Columbus, on Friday night, Feb. 28. This trans-continental tour of Cavalieri is under the management of Messrs. Haensel & Jones.

GEO. M. FENBERG WILL MANAGE A CHICAGO HOUSE

Geo. M. Fenberg, manager of the Canton, O., Orpheum theatre, severs his connection with that playhouse this evening and leaves for Chicago where Monday he assumes charge of the Alhambra, to be located at the corner of State street and Archer avenue. The theatre is owned by Mort Singer, now in Chicago, and whose attractions [illegible] will [illegible] popular in Newark. Mr. Singer has been negotiating with Mr. Fenberg for the past couple of seasons, being fully aware of the hustling abilities of the former popular manager of the Newark Orpheum.

Mr. Fenberg has been connected with Mr. O. G. Murray for the past four years, three of which have been spent at Canton where he has made many warm friends. His advancement to the management of the Alhambra, which seats 2,500 people, at a handsome salary, is a just recognition of his capabilities and it will be pleasing news to his many Newark friends, all of whom will wish him a successful career in his new field of labor and a further advancement in the theatrical managerial province for which he is so peculiarly adapted.

LICKING.

Miss Mabel Ruffner, after several weeks absence from school, resumed her studies last Monday morning.

Word from Mrs. J. C. Newton of Columbus says they are having a wonderful meeting at that place. Ninety have come out in the meeting already and they hope for many more.

Mrs. Sherman Rees, who has been on the sick list the past two weeks, is improving.

The ladies circle will meet with Mrs. Howard Ford the second Thursday in March.

The L. T. C. met with Sanford Black last Saturday night and report a good time.

Mrs. Sanford Black is visiting relatives in Newark.

Mr. Clyde Orr and sister Viva spent last Sunday with their sister Maude at her home near Taylor's Bridge.

Mr. Thomas Meikle of Moxahala spent last Monday at the J. R. Black home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Lawyer of Hebron were calling on Licking friends last week.

Mrs. C. M. Black spent a part of last week with Granville relatives.

Rev. Mr. McCall preached last Tuesday at the home of Mr. Charles Baugher.

Miss Esther Cook is on the sick list.

Mr. James Slocum took charge of her school last Monday as she was unable to be out of the house.

We are having good meetings at this place, although not a very large attendance. Everybody is invited.

The funeral of Mrs. D. J. Wharton took place last Saturday and was largely attended. Rev. Mr. Gillespie had charge of the services. Rev. Martin of Granville and Rev. McCall of this place were also present.

When failure comes along and upsets our plans, it isn't every man who can save a few chunks of hope for the future.

Tastes nice—acts gently.

DR. TIMBERMANN'S LECTURE PROVES VERY INTERESTING

Dr. Andrew Timbermann's illustrated lecture on India at the Y. M. C. A. last night was well attended and pronounced most interesting and entertaining. Dr. Timbermann spent a year in India studying the diseases of the eye while there he performed as many as 7,000 operations for cataract which is the most dreaded disease of the eye in that country. He showed on the screen a large number of pictures of the fine architecture of the Heathen temples and public buildings of large cities of India. He showed how the people of that country are bound by custom and creed which forms the chief barrier to advancement of any kind in that great country. India is half as large as the United States and has a population of more than three times as great. While in the city Dr. Timbermann was entertained by Mr. Harry Swisher of Hudson avenue. Mr. Swisher and Dr. Timbermann have been friends for a number of years.

THREE VICTORIES IN ONE EVENING

Newark's high school teams triumphed in three basket ball contests Friday night when the first team defeated Zanesville 17 to 17, the second team defeated Glenford 20 to 17, while the girls' team was winning from Columbus South High 9 to 8.

A splendid crowd attended the local games and Newark's young athletes played in splendid form. The first team in the game against Zanesville played rings around the Pottertown lads, the visitors never being even close to victory.

The members of the second team didn't have such easy sailing, the score being closer throughout the game. This contest furnished the spectators with a bit of excitement by its close score.

These games were the last scheduled at home by the basket ball teams, as the season will close shortly.

Governor Dunne is Real Democrat

Governor Edward F. Dunne of Illinois is faithful to his Democratic principles both in public and private life. He is a great believer in the simple life and all its tenets. He endeared himself to the hearts of the young men of his state when he refused to submit to the whisk broom wielded by a coat-room boy in a Chicago restaurant, and when he declined to pay thirty-five cents for a cup of coffee, when the standard price is half a dime, he made a big hit with his constituents. Governor Dunne is the proud father of nine husky children and when the family moved to Springfield from Chicago recently, with dozens of boxes of toys, several trunks, and suit cases, Chicago folks remarked that it was a considerable hegira.

THE BIRTHDAY CALENDAR.

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

Discord influences you. Avoid the society of others unless you are sure you can refrain from disputes. Your best course is to give serious attention to your work, letting your recreations be outdoor activities, the reading of good books and cheerful meditation.

Those born today will be brilliant and talented, but impractical. This, of course, can be remedied if understood in time. Their education should be broad and philosophic, with outdoor play and mechanical training. (Feb. 22.)

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

A pleasant journey or a fortunate turn in your affairs is foretold to you, but risks of money or games of chance will not favor you. A steady course is best.

Those born today will have energy and ambition and will persevere to the end. That they should start right is of great importance. They should study causes and effects and should be trained to judge accurately. They will have influential friends. (Feb. 23.)

$3.50 RECIPE FREE, FOR WEAK KIDNEYS.

Relieves Urinary and Kidney Troubles, Backache, Straining, Swelling, Etc.

Stops Pain in the Bladder, Kidneys and Backs.

Wouldn't it be nice within a week or so to begin to say goodbye forever to the scalding, dribbling, straining, or too frequent passage of urine; the forehead and the back-of-the-head aches; the stitches and pains in the back; the growing muscle weakness; spots before the eyes; yellow skin; sluggish bowels; swollen eyelids or ankles; leg cramps; unnatural short breath; sleeplessness and the despondency?

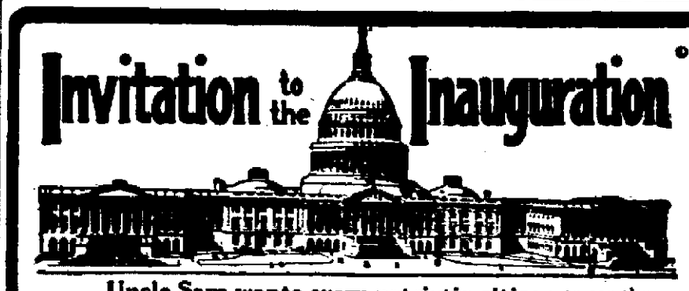

I have a recipe for these troubles that you can depend on, and if you want to make a quick recovery, you ought to write and get a copy of it. Many a doctor would charge you $3.50 just for writing this prescription, but I have it and will be glad to send it to you entirely free. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, K 1429 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send it by return mail in a plain envelope. As you will see when you get it, this recipe contains only pure, harmless remedies, but it has great healing and pain-conquering power.

It will quickly show its power once you use it, so I think you had better see what it is without delay. I will send you a copy free—you can use it and cure yourself at home.

"AT LAST, THE OLD KNABE TONE IS BACK IN A PIANO

Of course every piano maker and piano carpenter in the world talks about "tone"—and yet one might almost say, at least as far as it concerns piano manufacturing today, the building of pianos within which is real tone is very close to a lost art.

Commercialized pianos are responsible—building them for money, for space, for "looks," for anything but the preservation of old ideals, has brought the piano business, in many ways, to the level of a trade in furniture, in veneer and finish.

Some such thought must have struck the Knabes—Ernest J., Junior, and William III., grandsons of that peerless William Knabe of Baltimore—three years ago, when they left their native city and the Company that had so cleverly absorbed the old Knabe factory, and moved West, seeking a new atmosphere and an environment that was not so surcharged with percentages.

In Cincinnati, free from the yoke of a commercialism that figured out pianos by square inches of wood and decimal points in the allotment of wires, they set about building pianos according to the ideals and traditions of their grandfather, William Knabe. To with what result!

Why, just as Mr. Baldwin says, with the result that

And what a tone!

The Knabe tone, which is theirs and theirs alone (Ernest Knabe, Jr., and William Knabe III. are the only Knabes today manufacturing pianos anywhere in the world), has given these men that musical sense of finding "tone"—of drawing a scale not only mechanically perfect, but so intuitively produced that the final result is tone, sweet, full round, swelling and diminishing without break, without tremor, without loss of depth or quality in the slightest degree.

They have produced a scale so skillfully drawn that the sweet, same tonal quality is carried throughout, without break, from the lowest note to the highest.

The Pianos which the Knabes manufacture today are known as the

KNABE BROTHERS' PIANOS

They are to-day Pianos, carrying out the ideals of one of the greatest piano builders that ever lived. With a Knabe Brothers' artistically made, adhering to the old traditions and incorporating the new features of our peerless and modern cabinet construction.

The Knabe Brothers' Pianos come in three styles—Upright, Grand and Player, in several artistic case patterns.

The Knabe Brothers' Pianos are sold for as little as such pianos could possibly be priced. On easy payments, and your own piano will be taken in exchange for part payment, if desired.

SPECIAL NOTE—The Knabe Brothers' Piano is made under the supervision of William Knabe III. and Ernest J. Knabe, Jr., who were the former manufacturers of Knabe Pianos in Baltimore.

The Knabe Brothers' Piano is now the only piano manufactured by a Knabe today, and therefore must not be confused with what is still called the "original Knabe Piano."
